Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The president's fireside chat Monday evening carried a note of conviction. Certain specific national laws must be enacted by Conghess by October 1, three weeks away, or the president will be forced to accomplish the same things by presidential fiat. Ever since last April, he implied, he has been waiting for congress to make up its mind about inflation preventatives. Since congress has not moved to halt either soaring wages or farm food prices, it must do these things now. Or, the president did not say so, the dollar will start on such a toboggan that the housewife who goes shopping would need to carry a valise full of paper money to buy the family's daily food.

We think both the president and congress have been reluctant to fix wages or farm prices. Both are extremely shy of political dynamite, fancied or real. One faction in congress, the rural gang, yells for wage fixing, while another, usually the urban crowd, bawls loudly for a ceiling on all farm commodities that do not now have a ceiling. While our congressmen strut their patriotism front stage, they are bitterly wrangling back stage. Considering all the circumstances and past performances, we doubt whether any sane, thoughful citizen believes for a moment that congress will accomplish anything worth while by October 1. A great deal was done in Elinor Glyn's celebrated novel "Three Weeks," but congress seldom acts with such dizzy speed.

In last Monday night's address, the president passed the buck to congress. During the next three weeks congress will, if the past is any guide, pass the buck to the president. Having set a dead line for decisive action on the part of congress, and advertised it both in his address to congress and in his fireside chat to the 130,000,000 folks at home, we may confidently expect that the president will take action on the appointed date. Now farm commodity prices and wages have been for some time a pair of fighting Siamese twins. Whatever is done to make them behave will have to be done to both of them and done simultaneously. The farm bloc wants something done to wages first, and the labor bloc wants the farmers to take their medicine first.

The question inevitably rises, quite naturally in the light of events over the past ten years, whether the president's action will be bold, decisive, and really a cure of inflation, or will he appoint another commission, committee, or head man, with partial power. We think Leon Henderson, who now has power to fix some prices, should be given the right to fix all prices, all wages, and all salaries. A man with better manners and more political savy might have been chosen in the first place, but since Henderson has gone part of the way, it would seem as if the experience gained might warrant giving him the power to go all the way. But judging the future by the past again, we doubt if this will be done. A brand new man will probably receive the presidential accolade, and will be told to "go to it, but see me first on all details." If this doesn't happen, this writer will be surprised and pleased and will say so in this column.

We note that some members of congress are resenting what they call the "president's ultimatum". Of course, there have been a few members of congress who really never desired to surrender their power to the president even in wartime, though other congressmen in other wars have done so almost without exception in the country's history. In any event, this protest is now too little and too late. Congress has surrendered practically all its power into the president's hands. The only large exception we can think of, is the tax-

Harvest And Flower Show Here Success

Nevada City residents who attended the Victory Harvest and Flower Show sponsored yesterday by the Nevada City Garden Club were treated to a gorgeous display of nearly every type of flower grown in this community, noted for its beautiful flowers.

In addition evidence of the capabilities of the soil in Nevada City for truck garden and fruit, was displayed in the exhibits of fruits and vegetables raised here.

Most of the vegetable exhibits were from Victory Gardens raised by Nevada City school children. The Nevada City Garden Club gave prizes to local elementary children who produced the best vegetable gardens.

The proceeds from yesterday's flower show will go to the local Red Cross Chapter.

The polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 11 a. m. and W. H T.aylor, president of the mining district, will act as the inspector and Clark and Jane Taylor will act as the judges.

LABOR DAY FIRE BURNS 400 ACRES NEAR GRASS VALLEY

All available state and national forest fire fighting equipment were dispatched to the Labor Day fire which burned more than 400 acres on Osborne Hill south of Grass Valley.

The fire, believed to have been started by a carelessly thrown match or cigarette, was fanned by a stiff wind and burned rapidly through the brush and timber in its path.

Backfiring by state division of forestry and Tahoe National Forest fire fighting crews succeeded in stopping the fire at about 4 a. m. Tuesday. The fire started at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Because of the seriousness of the fire, State Fire Ranger Bill Sharp called upon the Tahoe National Forest for assistance and Dispatcher Ellwood M. Stone sent the White Cloud fire fighters to the scene in addition to several pieces of fire fighting equipment.

Soldiers from Camp Beale also aided in fighting the flames, which for a time threatened many homes in the Bullion Mine-LaBarr Meadows district.

Alec Prina, 18, Colfax fire fighter was struck by a falling tree and suffered burns. He was taken to the Miners Hospital in Nevada City.

Councilman Injures Back—

Dr. J. R. Ivey, local dentist and member of the city council, is recovering from a back injury suffered while lifting a heavy object. Dr. Ivey was in bed for several days but now is able to resume his practice.

FOREST FIRE GUARD MEN ARE NEEDED

Marc W. Edmonds, Tahoe National Forest fire control officer, reports that there will be several vacancies open for forest fire guard due to the approaching school year. Many students have been employed this fire season as suppression squad men. Vacancies caused by their return to school will be filled to maintain adequate forest protection until the fire season is over.

These positions pay $120 per month less the deduction for board. Edmonds reports that the Tahoe National Forest gave employment to a group of forestry students from Colorado and Pennsylvania Universities. Most of these boys have departed for their homes as they are due to be called by Selective Service soon. Several men have volunteered and entered the armed services. Many opportunities for employment are open and interested persons should make application at once to the forest supervisor, Tahoe National Forest, Nevada City, for further information.

California Now Richer Than Ever

State Controller Harry B. Riley announced in Sacramento that California began September with a general fund cash excess of $42,288,481 the largest in history.

"Never before has the state been so well off," Controller Riley said. "We have exceeded by about $12,000,000 the greatest surplus the state has ever had before."

Controller Riley said that the state today is better off by $76,358,172 than a year ago when instead of an excess there existed a deficiency of $34,069,691.

EMPIRE-STAR AWARDS BONDS

The Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., has awarded $100 United States War Bonds to twenty three Nevada County employees of the company.

The awards were the result of a plan proposed in July in which the company offered to give twenty bonds to the miners and three bonds to staff members if 250 employees signed up to have at least $7.50 each taken from each pay check to buy war bonds or defense stamps. More than the required 250 men accepted the proposal.

Lava Cap Men May Be Frozen

Nevada Cityans are speculating whether the order by the War Manpower Commission "freezing" nonferrous metal and lumber workers in twelve western states to their jobs applies to the Lava Cap Mining properties here.

It is presumed the order is applicable because the Lava Cap, although its principal product is gold, produces an essential flux, necessary for the smelting of lead, and a large quantity of arsenic. The Lava Cap enjoys a priority rating similar to defense industries such as shipyards.

The order by the War Manpower Commission was effective immediately. It was aimed at halting "wasteful pirating and migration of workers engaged in the production of these essential materials." The order, first government action of its kind, prohibits workers in the nonferrous metal and lumber industries from changing jobs without specific authority from the United States Employment Service.

No employer may release a worker for other jobs without first obtaining a "certificate of separation" from the employment service. No employer, whether conducting activities essential or non essential to war production, may employ a worker from the industries unless he has such a certificate.

Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Commissioner, who signed the order Monday, said the plan was based upon an anti-pirating principle developed by the commission's management labor policy commttee and approved by McNutt on July 16th.

Manpower losses to other industries already have reduced production of copper, other nonferrrous metals and lumber, McNutt said.

Good grounds for separation or changing jobs include:

1—When the worker is competent to perform more highly skilled work than his current employer is able or willing to provide.

2—When the worker is employed for a substantial period at less than full time.

3—When the distance between the worker's home and his place of employment is unreasonably great.

4—When the worker has compelling personal reasons for wishing to change.

5—When the worker is employed at wages or under working conditions substantially less favorable than those prevailing in the community for the kind of work on which he is employed.

REGISTERING SCHOOL PUPILS FOR FALL TERM UNDERWAY HERE

The task of registering Nevada City Elementary and High School pupils for the fall term, which opens Monday, began here today.

The hours for registering at the high school today and tomorrow will be between 9:30 and 12 noon and 1:30 and 5 p. m.

The enrolment at both the high school and elementary school is expected to substantially less than it has been for the past several years.

School officials pointed out birth certificates will be required of all entering students and in order to be admitted the children must not be less than five and one half years of age on September 1st of this year.

HYDRAULIC MINING ASSOCIATION MEETS IN COLFAX SUNDAY

The California Hyddraulic Mining Association's scrap iron program will receive attention at the meeting of the organization in Colfax Hotel at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Caught in the Riffles

Bob Tamblyn has successfully passed his tests for the United States Air Corps and will commence training as soon as training facilities are available. Bob had intended to enroll in a "ferry" pilot school but the instructor said his qualifications were good enough for the regular air corps. He had had a previous examination for the air corps but was rejected because of his sight. But he passed on re-examination.

It's now Sergeant Fred C. Garrison. Nevada City friends learned yesterday of the local youth's promotion. Garrison is editor of the Camp McQuadie paper.

About a month ago the Tahoe National Forest Camptonville patrolman encountered an oldtimer at the Frog Hollow campground. The white bearded gentleman had the back seat of his old Reo filled with goodness knows how many cats of all breeds and vintages. Said he. "They like to go sightseeing with me. I let them out at night and they all come back —just like dogs, they are."

Later the whole outfit visited the Oregon Creek campground for lunch. Two weeks later the patrolman met up with one of the cats, a prospective mother. Apparently she had grown tired of the gypsy life and had settled down to make a home in the solitude of the camp. She now has four new-comers and all are doing nicely. No doubt the population problems of catdom so befuddled the old man that he never missed one cat. But, if anyone knows his whereabouts, the Camptonville ranger station personnel would appreciate it if he would return and gather in his kitties before they become garbage cats and drastic measures have to be taken.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen listed his primary election expenses at $376.99.

Ward Sheldon of this city spent $366.15 to be elected district ttorney of Nevada County.

Eben K. Smart, who will be in the runoff with Phil Scadden for assessor in the general electon, listed his campaign expenses at $309.21.

James Henwood, unsuccessful candidate for county treasurer, spent $274.68 in his campaign.

George Gildersleeve, elected justice of the peace without opposition, listed his expenses at $30 and James Williams, unopposed for constable, spent $20.

Eldrege Skeahan is preparing to leave Nevada City for Washington, D. C., where he will be employed by the postal department of the federal government. Skehan has been assistant postmaster of the Nevada City Postoffice under Postmaster Betty Martin West for the past couple of years.

The cattle are moving down from the mountains to the winter ranges in the foothills. One cow got lost here and wandered about the streets, mooing plaintively, its cow bell disturbing the wonted silence. Due to past unpleasant experiences with animals of that type the police didn't attempt to impound the animal and for all we know the cow may still be loitering on one of the streets of the community.

Bear Steals Lunches Of Forest Service Trail Crew

Trail foreman Orin Lattin in charge of the forest service crew working on the Little North Fork trail west of Downieville, reported to District Ranger Delaney of the Tahoe National Forest that a bear stole the lunches of the crew one day last week. The crew had put their lunches in a tree but the bear found them. Everything in the lunches was eaten except the bananas and one lunch box was broken by a bear who put his foot through it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson of San Francisco came to Nevada City Tuesday being called here by the death and funeral of the late Jim Dolan.

JUNK MIGHT WIN THE WAR

(From the New York Times, July 26th, 1942)

When we want to say that an argument, or a book, or a play, or a speech, or a political platform doesn't appeal to us we call it junk. In the light of our war needs we may have to revise this word's meaning. Among the material things that may turn the tide is this despised item of junk; stuff tossed up into the attic by those who still have attics; odds and ends in the cellar and garage; things we have stuck in closets with the thought that we might use them some day; things like rubber mats, tennis shoes with the toes worn through, old hot-water bottles, old-model toasters, old shovels, that we use a little but not much. Anything of rubber, copper, brass, zinc, tin, almost anything of metal, rags, manila rope, burlap bags, all can be used.

They can be turned into tanks, into bombers, into bombs, into tires, into gas masks, into barrage balloons, into parachute flares, into sandbags, into any number of articles immediately useful on the war fronts.

In short, junk isn't junk any more. It is an essential raw material. It is America's "mine above the ground." In Germany, Italy or Japan we wouldn't be asked to turn it in. It would be taken. This is one of our many opportunities to show that voluntary effort can beat coercion any day in the week.

FLYNN TO THE RESCUE

Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National committee, has donned his fireman's hat and rushed to the rescue of the Olson forces in California. He is out here to try to save the state for the Democrats after the shellacking their candidate took in the primary.

Less than ten weeks remain between now and the November election and in that time Governor Olson must turn many hundreds of thousands of votes or see Earl Warren, a Republican, elected. Warren ran on a non-partisan basis in the primary and nearly took the nominations of both major parties. His combined vote on the two tickets was so much greater than Olson's that the governor hastened to Washington as soon as the results were known and knocked on the White House door to beg for assistance. Flynn is the field man for President Roosevelt and he is trying to unite the Democrats on a partisan basis behind Olson.

Flynn might have saved himself a lot of disappointment had he persuaded Governor Olson not to run for re-election. But the governor had the national party leaders fooled into believing that he could win easily by making deals to eliminate all the other Democrats from the race. Chief deal was to persuade Senator Robert Kenny to switch from the governor's race to try for attorney general. When it became Olson vs. Warren, the great maiority of the voters preferred Warren

The truth is that Flynn has arrived too late. Olson is doomed and most of the leading Democrats in the state are not only willing to admit it, but secretly are glad that it is happening. Olson has never been a true Democrat in the strictest sense of the word. He calls himself a liberal which can mean most anything. It is possible that the vote might be turned to Olson's favor in the November election, but the time is short and the probabilities are against this happening. The Warren people need only to keep up a vigorous campaign until the election day and they will win. Olson is not wanted and it will take more than the White House assistance and the efforts of Mr. Flynn to save him.—Sacramento Union.

NEWS IN RHYME

'Tis quite a while before
Thanksgiving,
But thoughts to turkey turn.
For the doughboys who are living—
Abroad—for turkey yearn.

In old Uncle Samuel's big warm heart,
Was a most unwanted thought:
That turkey might not play a part,
In dinners foreign-bought.

So to the boys in far Australia,
Have been sent the cheerful words,
"Uncle Samuel will not fail you:
He will send Thanksgiving birds."

Turkey in Australia's rare,
Or at least more so than here.
It seems the number they had there,
Wasn't big enough—'twas clear.

So now a refrigerator ship,
Has been assigned this cheery job,
To make a turkeyladen trip,
For soldier-boy and gob.

The boys who drive the thundering tanks,
And fly the Flying Forts,
Deserve the nation's deepest thanks,
And they've been A-1 sports.

Now when Thanksgiving rolls around,
Our forces in the air,
And those at sea, and those aground,
Will find turkey dinners there.

The lads are far from home and gal,
And little things help lots.
To stimulate A-1 morale,
In desolate foreign spots.

We're glad that turkey's on the way;
We hope the lads have heard—
That it's turkey this Thanksgiving day—
All hail the noble bird!

THINKING OUT LOUD

ing power, which the president probably, for obvious reasons, doesn't want. A great many of the powers surrendered were given the president long before this war started. The protest now, is not only too late and too little,, it is also obstructive and silly.

Congress may be expected to produce a bill, in fact one is already introduced, to carry out the president's wishes. There will be an argument, first, on which committee will get the bill. Then the committee will wrangle. Finally mutilated, tattered and patched, the bill will reach the floor. Then bloc will try to block bloc. The debate will be long and acrimonious. The first of October, as fateful as the Ides of March will roll around quicker than scat, and congress will still be a hurricane of hot air.

The people back home want action. They want wages fixed. They want prices of everything they buy fixed. They want salaries and profits fixed. They want to win this war. They want no more obstruction of any kind from anybody in Washington. They have hired, a president, representatives, and senators to do the things that need to be done, and they don't like the buck passing and the waiting from April to October to get them done.

THELMA R. WAECHTER BECOMES BRIDE OF HUGH BRECKENRIDGE

Deputy County Assessor Louis Hugh Breckenridge and his bride, the former Thelma Ruth Waechter of Nevada City, are spending their honeymoon at Lake Tahoe.

They will return to Grass Valley some time next week to make their home.

The wedding of the couple took place Sunday at the Methodist Church in Grass Valley with Rev. Mark Pike performing the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, A. L. Waechter of Nevada City, was attended by Miss Valda Bishop of Nevada City. Keth Breckenridge of San Mateo, brother of the bridegroom, acted as the best man.

I Love You Truly was sung by Mrs. Ann Hathaway of Nevada City. Mrs. Camille Cornish played the wedding music on the organ.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Waechter home in Indian Flat.

The bride graduated from the Nevada City High School last June. She had been employed in the office of the Nevada County Selective Service Board here.

Breckenridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Breckenridge of Grass Valley, has been a deputy assessor under J. M. Hammill for the past two years. He is a graduate of the Grass Valley High School and of Mt. St. Mary's Business Academy in Grass Valley. The father is an official of the Nevada Irrigation District.

Mrs. Lucille Krough of Sacramento spent the Admission Day holiday in Nevada City as a guest of Miss Fernande Muller and also called on several other friends.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

IT'S real puzzlin' when you stop to think about it . . .

I mean the way the human race has worked out a whole set of cut-an'-dried alibis for its misdeeds and shortcomings.

Some of them's harmless alibis —like the office boy's grandmother who always passes away just before the big baseball game.

Here's some others. "My alarm clock didn't go off." "I left my money in my other suit"—"I was settin' up with a sick friend."

And then the one about the two beers. Now that one is downright exasperatin'.

Because there's not a shred of truth in it.

Every once in a while I read in the papers about some ornery cuss, who never did know the meanin' of moderation, gettin' himself into trouble — —and then protestin' that all he had to drink was "a couple of beers."

He knows it isn't true. He's just sayin' that because he knows that "a couple of beers" sounds moderate and sensible-like—and it is.

Personally, I don't ever remember seein' a couple of glasses of good beer, enjoyed among friends, hurt any normal, sensible person.

If you won't get in trouble without beer, you aren't going to get in trouble with it.

Matter of fact, it's been my observation right along that a friendly glass of beer in pleasant sociability leads to just the opposite of trouble.

It goes along, seems to me, with good companionship, and moderation, and tolerance for the other fellow.

Yes, sir, from where I sit, it looks like the fellow that goes and gets himself in trouble, and then blames it all on a "couple of beers" isn't really foolin' anybody.

But he is bein' mighty mean and unfair to the people that enjoy the right to a sensible moderate drink like beer—yes, includin' "a couple of beers."

SOME AREAS OPEN TO DEER HUNTERS SEPT. 16

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The national forests of northern and central California, within districts where the deer season starts September 16, will be open to hunting, according to S. B. Show, Regional Forester, U. S. Forest Service. These federal forests, with the following general exceptions, are outside the boundaries of areas recently closed by the state to deer hunting at the request of army authorities: Trinity forest: Southeast portion in Shasta and Tehama Counties; Sierra Forest: Scattered areas west of Ponderosa Way along the west boundary of the forest; Sequoia Forest: South end, in the Greenhorn and Piute Mountains region.

The forest service also announces that there will be a few limited areas of esecially high fire hazard in the northern and central national forests that will be closed to public use in order to protect the timber and water resources. All such areas will be clearly marked, and full information thereon may be secured from local forest service officers.

On some of the forests hunters will be checked in and given detailed information regarding special smoking and night campfire regulations.

All national forests in southern California are already closed to public use; and will remain closed until the end of the fire season.

"We want the sportsmen to enjoy camping, fishing and hunting in the national forests," said Mr. Show. "These forests provide good hunting grounds and have always been noted as a place for public recreation. But the extent to which the federal forests will remain open to public use must be consistent with the hazards of the fire season and all measures vital to the war effort and national security.

"This season, far more than ever before, he whole-hearted cooperation in fire prevention of all sportsmen and forest visitors is essential. Already this year California has had well over 4,000 forest, range and grain fires, which have burned in excess of 400,000 acres. Even more startling is the fact that the number of fires caused by man's carelessness has materially increased.

"The war has also brought new dangers to our forests and their resources. Lieut. General John L. DeWitt has forcefully pointed out that forest fires destroy needed war materials, limit visibility for defense air and sea patrol, disrupt communication and transportation systems, endanger defense plants and military establishments, and reduce water supply for needed hydroelectric production. In short, Forest Fires Delay Victory."

The forest service cautions sportsmen to watch for and respect "No Trespassing," "Closed Area," and "No Smoking" signs, and for their own safety to obey immediately the orders of sentries, peace officers and guards.

BERNIECE BANKUS WEDS UNITED STATES ARMY SERGEANT

Miss Berniece Bankus of Nevada City became the bride of Sergeant C. T. Moffett in the St. Edmund Episcopal Church in Richmond at a formal nuptial rite recently.

Mrs. John Mlinarich was the matron or honor and the bridesmaids were Mesdames Fern Richards of Grass Valley, Alice Jenkins of Richmond, Mrs. Lyle Moffett and Mrs. Clyde Crowder and Misses Josephine Johnson and Mildred Miller.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, John Bankus. Robert Radonich was the best man and the ushers were Daniel Sandkamp, Jerome Linn, Charles McCarthy, Wayne LaValley, David Higgins, Edward L. Ball, Kenneth L. Nunn and William Thayer.

The former Miss Bankus graduated from the Nevada City High School and the Placer Junior College.

She formerly was employed as a waitress at the National Hotel here.

HAND INJURED BY SAW

Rinaldo Daneri of Downieville suffered a laceration of his right hand and the possible loss of his little finger when his hand struck a power wood saw.

Daneri is superintendent of the Kirkpatrick Mine near Downieville.

ANNULMENT

Christine Miller Shields has filed a suit in the superior court here against Carl W. Shields, seeking an annulment of the marriage of the couple. The annulment is sought on the ground of fraud.

NEVADA COUNTY STOCKMAN IS RECOVERING FROM INJURIES SUFFERED BY HORSE KICK

Guy Robinson, Jr., well known stockman of this county, is recovering in the Community Hospital in Grass Valley from a fractured jaw and other injuries, suffered when kicked by a horse he was saddling at the Robinson cattle camp at Butcher Ranch above Sierra City.

The horse apparently had become excited and reared into the air and kicked the stockman before he had a chance to get away. Robinson was taken to the hospital in a Hooper-Weaver ambulance.

The club telephone rang at 2 a. m. and a steward answered it.

"Is my husband there?" an irate woman asked.

"No, ma'am."

"How do you know?" she snapped. "I didn't even tell you his name."

"You didn't have to. The moment the phone rang every married man in the place grabbed his hat and ran."

Mrs. Gertrude Christy, Red Cross nutrition director, commenting on possible rationing of meat—"Everybody'll get along all right. Most of the railroads were built on beans—that was the chief diet of the husky Irish workmen. So it can be done."

YOU CAN LEAD THE COLOR PARADE THE

MURPHY WAY

The trend toward color is growing by leaps and bounds! The public is more color-conscious today than ever beofre. Note all the magazine articles that stress the use of color in the home, the smart, colorful decorations in restaurants, and hotels, the new, bright colors on radios, pianos, cars, telephones, furinture, refrigerators, etc. No wonder people are becoming more particular about the colors used in their homes.

You can turn this trend to your advantage by using the modern MURPHY COLOR SYSTEM. At the same time, you will save yourself a lot of trouble trying to satisfy customers by the "patch-on-the-wall" process.
